

Lab 11 Screen shots.

Your javafx program needs to produce these results.

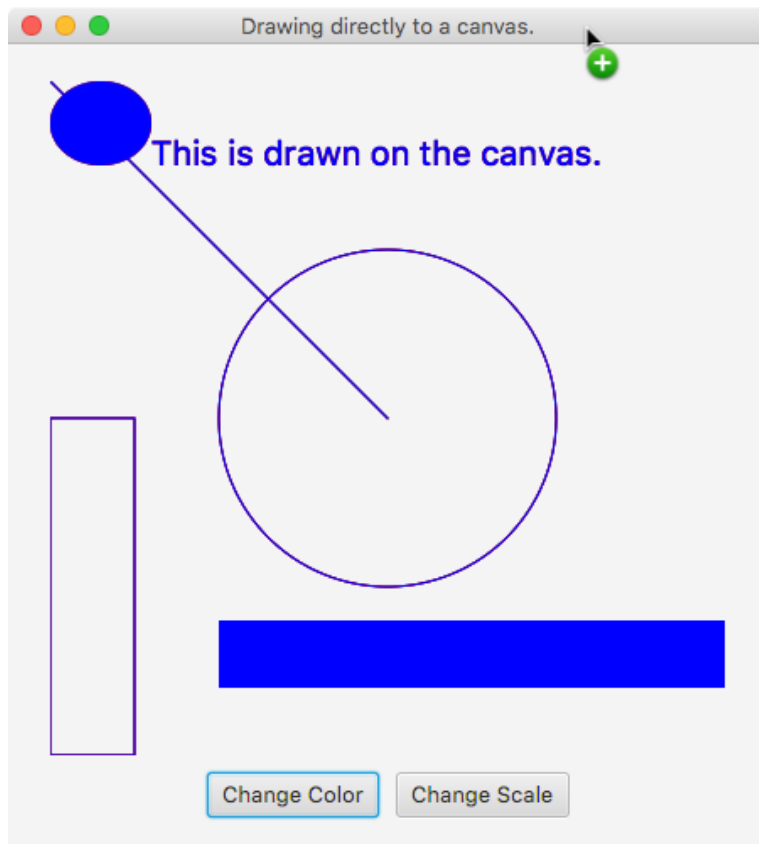

1. Starting Window. All images shown actual size (400 x 400).

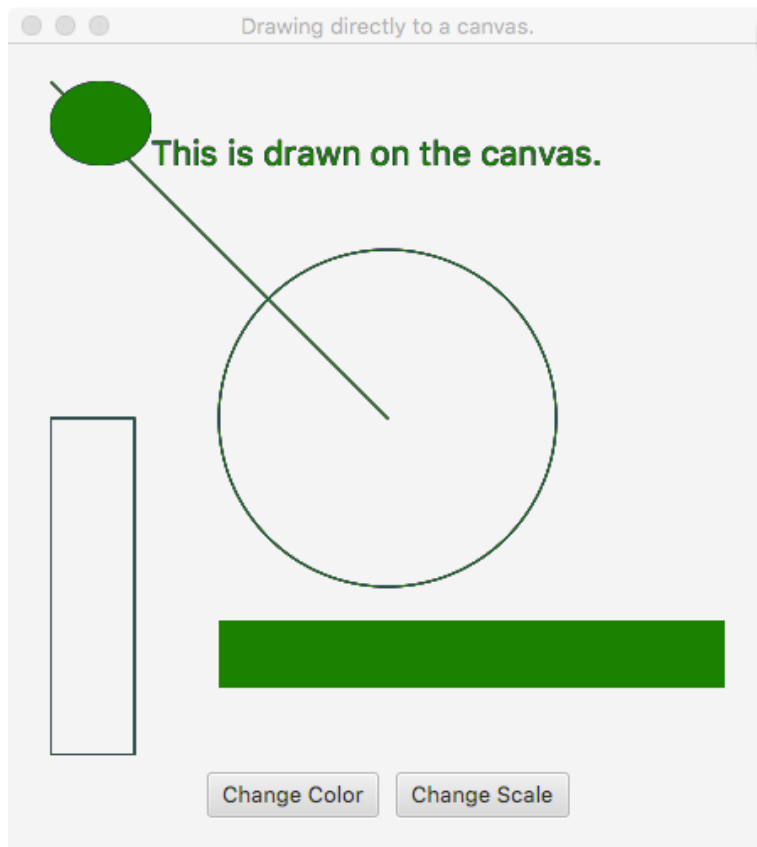

2. Window after the first click of the Change Color button.
Everything is colored red. Scale does not change.

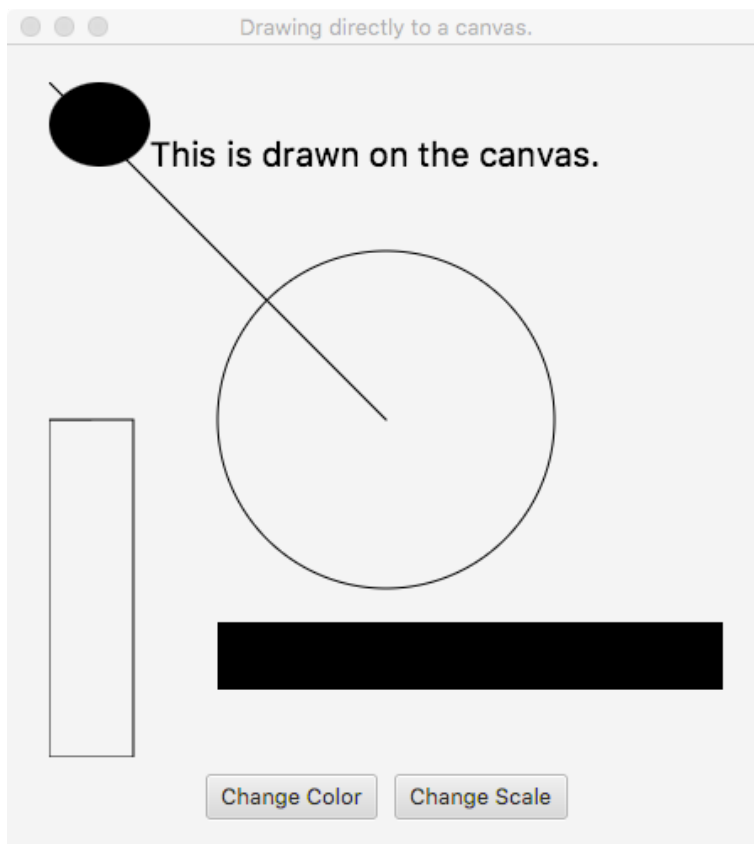

3. Window after the second click of the Change Color button.
Everything is colored blue. Scale does not change.

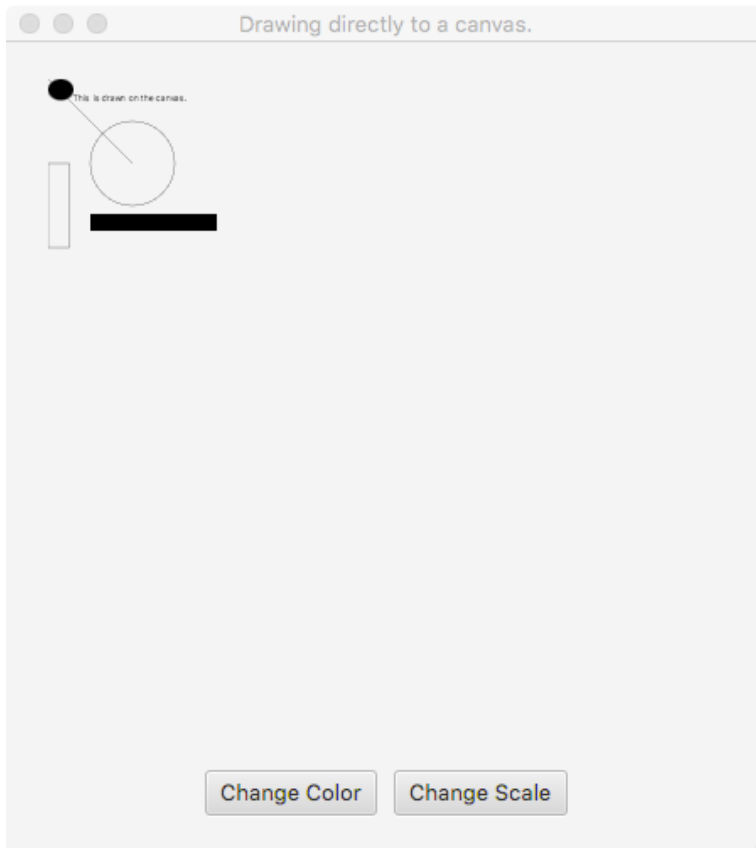

4. Window after the third click of the Change Color button. Everything is colored green. Scale does not change.

5. On the fourth click of the Change Color button the window should get back to the starting window. Scale does not change. Subsequent clicks will cycle the window thru this sequence.

6. Window after the first click of the Change Scale button. Scale changes to 25%. Color does not change.

7. Window after the second click of the Change Scale button. Scale changes to 50%. Color does not change.

8. Window after the third click of the Change Scale button the window should get back to the starting screen. Color does not change. Subsequent clicks will cycle the window thru this sequence.

